Agenzia Piemonte Lavoro Ente Strumentale Regione Piemonte

Agenzia Piemonte Lavoro (APL) is the public agency entrusted with the labor market of the Piedmont Region, based in Turin, Italy. It was established in 1998 by Regional Law No. 41 to contribute to the development and monitoring of the regional labor market. In 2015, Regional Law No. 23 assigned APL a new mission: to coordinate and manage the activities of the 30 public employment services in the Piedmont Region. APL also provides technical assistance and oversees the functions of planning, advising and coordinating regional employment policies in collaboration with the regional authority. In addition, in accordance with the guidelines of the Regional Council, the Agency supports the tasks of ESF programming activities, the promotion and support of the qualification of professional experience as well as the development of equal opportunities policies.
