Two different processes have been used for this wine, (1) Some grappes – representing 70 % of the cuvée - have been pressed directly which gives fruity flavours and a good acidity, (2) Bleeding off Brauacol – the remaining 30% of the cuvée - after a very short maceration with the skins giving the wine its richness. This wine has been grown on fine lees for two months with staves.

Summer wine that matches well with grilled meats.

Serve between 8 and 10°C.
