Vital Aid Foundation

Vital Aid Foundation was founded in The Hague in 2004 as a not-for-profit organization that intends to integrate the refugees and migrants into the Dutch society and culture.

The mission of the organization is to assist refugees and migrant women to improve their socio-economic position and integrate effectively into the society and the culture of the host country. In order to realize this aspiration, VAF strives to foster conducive environment that would encourage immigrants to participate fully in innovative, productive and optimal use of their intellectual capacities in all dimensions of life. Based on this goal, VAF has designed and implemented a wide range of projects, programs and activities that involve African migrants of various cultural backgrounds, different age ranges and socio-economic status.

ENoMW

The ENoMW is a female-only, migrant women led, multi-ethnic, secular organisation with core values rooted in the principles of Justice, Equality and Feminism.

European Network of Migrant Women (ENOMW) was formalised as an AISBL (International Non-Profit Association) in Belgium in 2012. Prior to this a number of migrant women organisations, who eventually became the founding members of the network, had already forged partnerships and voiced the need for a formal structure that would support, visualise and promote the specific concerns and rights of migrant women at the European level. EoMW has over 50 member organisations in 23 European countries. ENoMW has reached considerable visibility at the EU level and has become a respected partner in the international and European arena of human rights, migration and integration, women's rights and anti-discrimination.
