Rent - Providing stay for work conducted on the property. Teaching - Helping students learn. Vehicle - Selling a vehicle, motorcycle, or boat. How to Make a Barter Agreement A barter agreement is made between two (2) parties that agree to the fair market value of each other's goods or services. Once agreed upon, the quantity and delivery date must be reached and the document is ready to sign. Step 1 - Make a Verbal Agreement It is best to make an agreement upfront of what each party will provide. For example, the most popular type of barter is a hotel owner trading goods or services for the renting of a room. Due to the high hotel taxes, this is a common way to avoid paying merchant fees. Step 2 - Select Arrangement Type A barter agreement can be set up in two (2) ways: One (1) Time Use - The agreement acts as a bill of sale and is completed upon the delivery of the bartering items by both parties. Example: A vehicle is exchanged for the installation of a new roof. Once the roof has been installed, the vehicle is exchanged. Ongoing Situation - The agreement remains valid and the bartering offerings are exchanged until terminated by one of the parties. Example: Painting services are exchanged for rent. A painter agrees to paint the properties of the landlord in exchange for rent at the painter's apartment.

Party A Signature: _____ Date: _____ Print Name: _____ Party B Signature: _____ Date: _____ Print Name: _____ How to Write Download: PDF, MS Word, OpenDocument Step 1 - Acquire Your Copy Of The Barter Agreement In One Of Three Formats Download the template agreement defining a barter using any of the buttons beneath the sample image. Notice each button ("PDF," "Word," and "ODT") has a corresponding text link above ("PDF," "MS Word," and "Open Document"). You may use any of these items to download the template necessary to solidify a bartering agreement. Step 2 - Produce Documentation Of The Effective Date Several statements must be declared to solidify a bartering agreement. This document will divide these declarations by topic. Some of these articles have been developed to function as is while others will need information supplemented to be applied to the two Parties involved. The first article, "I. The Parties," displays a blank space preceding the number "20" and another following it. Produce the month and calendar day this Barter Agreement becomes effective on the space preceding this number. The space immediately following the number "20" requires the two-digit year in this contract's effective date. Step 3 - Introduce The First Bartering Party The declaration in "I. The Parties" continues to the label "Party A." This agreement requires that each Party engaged in this barter be identified to their roles. As a quick reference, the first Party we identify will be Party A. The blank line that follows this bold label requires the full name of one of the Bartering Parties while the second space (after the term "Street Address Of") requires the building number, street, and apartment number of this individual's (or entity's) business address.

The remainder of Party A's business address should be recorded across the two blank spaces to the right of the terms "City Of..." and "State Of..." respectively. Step 4 - Identify The Second Bartering Party The second Bartering Party of this trade will also need to be solidified for this document to hold him or her responsible to its content. Thus, continue through "I. The Parties" to the next bold label "Party B" where the name of the Second Bartering Party must be presented. This statement will also seek the "Street Address" Party B prefers used for his or her business address. Continue with Party B's information by recording this entity's city and state on the lines after "City Of..." or "State Of..." Step 5 - Furnish A Description Of Party A's Offer Naturally, in a barter situation with two Parties (A and B respectively) at least two pieces of property will be involved. Thus, a list of Party A's barter items must be produced along with that of Party B. In "II. The Offering" all items being exchanged should be detailed to be attached to its current Owner. Locate the term "Party A Offers" then list every piece of property this individual or entity is offering to Party B. If the property can be identified with an official product number (i.e. a manufacturer I.D. number, VIN, plot number, etc.) then list such information when available. Step 6 - Attach The Monetary Value Of Party A's Barter The next area in "III. The Offering" also serves to describe Party A's contribution to this trade. Add the value of all items and properties involved in this barter then record this dollar amount after the words "With A Monetary Value ($)" Step 7 - Define Party B's Barter As indicated earlier, Party B's property will need to be listed for review. After the words "Party B Offers," list all the barter items Party B will trade with Party A as a result of this trade. Step 8 - Display The Barter Value For Party B's Offer The value of Party B's barter items should be listed as well. The line attached to the words "With A Monetary Value" will accept this value or values for display. Step 9 - Discuss The Delivery Of The Bartered Goods The manner in which each Party delivers its goods to the other will be the next topic that bears discussion and requires attention. Continue through this document to the section titled "III. Delivery Of Goods." Two checkbox choices are on display in this article to aid in this definition. Only one of these can be selected as documentation for each Party's delivery of barter items. If all barter items must be submitted "...By Each Party" from the appropriate Party, then mark the box labeled "On A Specific Date." This selection means that the month, two-digit calendar day, and two-digit calendar year of the barter deadline must be entered across the two blank spaces on display. If the two Parties intend for this trade to be an ongoing one, then mark the second checkbox "For An Ongoing Arrangement" to be set for this barter. That is, the items or services being traded will continue until this is terminated by either Party. Keep in mind that if there are any owed barter items at the time of cancellation, the remaining barter items will still be considered owed. Step 10 - Report The State Jurisdiction Ruling The Barter The state where this document would be reviewed if challenged must be declared. Find the article label "IV. Governing Law," then generate the name of this state on the blank line in the statement displayed. Step 11 - Discuss The Remaining Provisions To This Contract The eighth article in this document remains open-ended in that it enables a direct report on any remaining topics that Party A and Party B have agreed to and intend to use this paperwork to obligate the other to live up to.

Produce this on the blank lines directly under the article label "VIII. Additional Terms & Conditions." Step 12 - Party A Requires An Executing Signature The first Bartering Party, referred to as Party A above, is expected to sign his or her name on the line "Party A Signature." This will display Party A's willingness to adhere to the bartering agreement we have discussed. After this signature, Party A should also verify the "Date" that he or she acknowledged (by signature) the terms above by entering the calendar month, day, and year of the signing on the "Date" line. Once done, Party A can finalize his or her part in this document's execution by printing his or her name on the "Print Name" line. Step 13 - This Paperwork Must Be Completed With Party B's Signature The second Bartering Party discussed above, named Party B, also carries an obligation to sign this paperwork in order for it to become an effective document that exerts power. The signature area that closes this document begins with the "Party B Signature" and "Date" lines. Party B must sign his or her name on the former then produce the current "Date" on the latter. Party B must print his or her name on the line attached to the "Print Name" label to solidify his or her identity and dated signature.
