

The Lumustra

This is Lumustra the cat- octopus- elephant.

One day I went for a walk in my street when I saw a strange creature. It was a beautiful cat- octopus- elephant. I saw it was a female and I took her with me. At home I gave her grass and carrots. She found the food very yummy.

I don't know her age exactly, but I guess she's one or two years old. She lives in the woods because she likes the trees there. My pet likes playing hide and seek but she doesn't like going for walks. Lumustra has two pink eyes and a sweet nose. She's a little bit heavier than most other pets because she's very big. She has got four legs and four arms. Sometimes my pet is angry but most of the time she is sweet. Lumustra is as big as an octopus but not as big as a lion. My pet's arms are shorter than from a real octopus.

To my mind my animal is the cleverest pet I know. I hope she will stay with me forever.
