

Days of Future 2021

June 11th and 12th, online via zoom

When:

Friday, June 11th 2021:
2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Saturday, June 12th 2021:
9 a.m. to 12 p.m.
12 noon - 2 pm lunch break
2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Why:

Under the title "Politics of the Future", pioneers and those interested in a new policy in Europe are given a space for dialogue to get to know one another and perhaps to find the next steps of interweaving.

How:

To make this online conference as lively, joyful and organic as possible, nature and art are inspiring and supportive elements of these two days. They serve to create analogies for the future design of the common living space.

Who:

A co-creation of the teams from Tage der Zukunft and the Erasmus * project LiFT - Leadership for Transition - Politics and the Museum am Bach in Ruden/Carintia/Austria, in which we will explore how dialogues at the "Round Table" will be rounded off.

What:

The modules of this online congress are:

- Who is who of the participants via the Prezi presentation tool
- Getting to know each other personally as part of the online conference
- Open space workshops to present your own projects
- Learning Lab: What we can learn individually and socially from nature
- Artistic interventions
- Open dialogue at the virtual round table on the knowledge gained
- Sufficient space for breaks, breathing deeply, exercise, eating, etc.
- After the event: video recordings and online interweaving platform

Subject to changes

Congress languages: German and English

Registration:

Participation is free. It is essential that you register in good time so that we can send you the zoom link. In the reply email there will be more information about the event.
Please email to: schellander@zukunftskompetenzen.at