

I'm not robot

Continue

Common german words with article

Common words in german and english. 1000 most common german words with articles pdf. Common words in german and hindi. List of common german words. 1000 most common german words with articles. Most common german words with articles. Common german nouns with articles.

This material is intended for those who start learning German at level A1.

German is a language that requires the use of articles with every noun. However, unlike in English, German articles change depending on the gender, number, and case of the noun they accompany. Here are some important rules to keep in mind when using articles in German:

- Three Articles: In German, there are three articles: der for masculine nouns, die for feminine nouns, and das for neuter nouns. For example, der Mann (the man), die Frau (the woman), and das Kind (the child).
- Noun Gender: It's important to learn the gender of nouns in German because it determines the article to be used. For example, der Tisch (the table) is masculine, die Tür (the door) is feminine, and das Buch (the book) is neuter.
- Plural Nouns: Plural nouns in German take the article die regardless of gender. For example, die Autos (the cars), die Hunde (the dogs), and die Kinder (the children).
- Cases: In German, articles change depending on the case of the noun. The four cases in German are nominative, accusative, dative, and genitive. Each case has its own set of article forms, which can take some time to learn.

List of common german words. 1000 most common german words with articles. Most common german words with articles. Common german nouns with articles.

This material is intended for those who start learning German at level A1. German is a language that requires the use of articles with every noun. However, unlike in English, German articles change depending on the gender, number, and case of the noun they accompany. Here are some important rules to keep in mind when using articles in German:

- Three Articles: In German, there are three articles: der for masculine nouns, die for feminine nouns, and das for neuter nouns. For example, der Mann (the man), die Frau (the woman), and das Kind (the child).
- Plural Nouns: Plural nouns in German take the article die regardless of gender. For example, die Autos (the cars), die Hunde (the dogs), and die Kinder (the children).
- Cases: In German, articles change depending on the case of the noun. The four cases in German are nominative, accusative, dative, and genitive. Each case has its own set of article forms, which can take some time to learn.
- Exceptions: Some nouns in German do not follow the typical gender rules and may require a different article. For example, das Mädchen (the girl) is a neuter noun, even though it refers to a female person.
- No Article: Some nouns in German don't require an article, such as proper nouns, abstract nouns, and some mass nouns. For example, Maria (Maria) or Deutschland (Germany). Learning the rules for using articles in German can be challenging, but it is essential for communicating effectively in the language. By paying attention to noun gender, case, and number, and by practicing with various exercises, learners can improve their mastery of German articles over time. Below are some guidelines for determining the correct articles. Categories of words related to the masculine gender: Males and professions der Großvater, der Lehrer, der Fahrer Weather der Regen, der Hagel Wind directions der Osten, der Westen Seasons der Herbst, der Winter Months der September, der Dezember Days of the week der Donnerstag, der Mittwoch Trains der IC, der Regionalexpress Car brands der Nissan, der Audi Alcoholic drinks der Cognac, der Wein Nouns, formed from verbs without ending der Gesang, der Fang, der Abbruch Endings can also help determine the masculine gender: -er der Rentner, der Rechner, der Computer -ling der Pfifferling -or der Reaktor, der Akkumulator -ist der Journalist, der Aktivist -ismus der Aktionismus, der Rheumatismus Categories of words related to the feminine gender: Airplanes die Boeing, die Concorde Ship names die Titanic, die Europa Motorcycle brands die Harley-Davidson, die Honda Flowers die Rose, die Tulpe, die Hyazinthe Numbers die Fünf, die Zwölf, die Zehn Endings can indicate feminine gender: -e die Tasche, die Ente, die Lampe -ei die Wäscherei, die Bäckerei -ie die Psychologie, die Arterie -in die Prinzessin, die Ärztin -t die Fahrt, die Tat, die Nacht -schaft die Freundschaft, die Mannschaft -heit/-keit die Gelegenheit, die Schnelligkeit -ung die Zeitung, die Umleitung The endings of foreign words can also be useful for determining the feminine: -ion die Modulation, die Tradition -age die Drainage, die Passage -ur die Agentur, die Manufaktur -ik die Informatik, die Metrik -anz die Relevanz, die Ignoranz -tät die Naivität, die Fakultät -ade die Blockade, die Marmelade -enz die Präsenz, die Tendenz Categories of words related to the neuter gender: Substantivized adjectives das Schöne, das Gute Substantivized verbs das Schreiben, das Tippen Metals das Aluminium, das Messing Chemical elements das Helium, das Lithium Colors das Blau, das Rot, das Gelb Endings may indicate neuter: Diminutives: -chen das Hühnchen, das Ländchen Diminutives: -lein das Kindlein, das Büchlein -um das Publikum, das Zentrum -nis das Zeugnis, das Ergebnis -tum das Altertum, das Kaisertum -ment das Kompliment, das Parlament -o das Radio, das Kino, das Auto Nouns with the prefix Ge- are often neuter: Ge- das Gehölz, das Geflügel, das Gemüse (collective words) Ge- das Geräusch, das Gestöber, das Gebet, das Gerüst (abstract terms derived from verbs) When starting to learn German, it is always a good idea to memorize the most common words first. You will quickly begin to understand many more situations when compared to learning your German vocabulary from random sources.

German is a language that requires the use of articles with every noun. However, unlike in English, German articles change depending on the gender, number, and case of the noun they accompany. Here are some important rules to keep in mind when using articles in German:

- Three Articles: In German, there are three articles: der for masculine nouns, die for feminine nouns, and das for neuter nouns. For example, der Mann (the man), die Frau (the woman), and das Kind (the child).
- Noun Gender: It's important to learn the gender of nouns in German because it determines the article to be used. For example, der Tisch (the table) is masculine, die Tür (the door) is feminine, and das Buch (the book) is neuter.
- Plural Nouns: Plural nouns in German take the article die regardless of gender. For example, die Autos (the cars), die Hunde (the dogs), and die Kinder (the children).
- Cases: In German, articles change depending on the case of the noun. The four cases in German are nominative, accusative, dative, and genitive. Each case has its own set of article forms, which can take some time to learn.
- Exceptions: Some nouns in German do not follow the typical gender rules and may require a different article. For example, das Mädchen (the girl) is a neuter noun, even though it refers to a female person.
- No Article: Some nouns in German don't require an article, such as proper nouns, abstract nouns, and some mass nouns. For example, Maria (Maria) or Deutschland (Germany). Learning the rules for using articles in German can be challenging, but it is essential for communicating effectively in the language. By paying attention to noun gender, case, and number, and by practicing with various exercises, learners can improve their mastery of German articles over time.

Here are some important rules to keep in mind when using articles in German: • Three Articles: In German, there are three articles: der for masculine nouns, die for feminine nouns, and das for neuter nouns. For example, der Mann (the man), die Frau (the woman), and das Kind (the child).

Most common german words with articles. Common german nouns with articles.

This material is intended for those who start learning German at level A1. German is a language that requires the use of articles with every noun. However, unlike in English, German articles change depending on the gender, number, and case of the noun they accompany. Here are some important rules to keep in mind when using articles in German: • Three Articles: In German, there are three articles: der for masculine nouns, die for feminine nouns, and das for neuter nouns. For example, der Mann (the man), die Frau (the woman), and das Kind (the child).

English	German	English	German
1. this year	year	Das Jahr geht zu Ende.	The year is coming to an end.
2. the Mail	time	Helmut ist schon zum zweiten Mal in Schweden.	Helmut is in Sweden already for the second time.
3. the hospital	example	Ich binne zum Beispiel früher kommen.	I could come earlier, for example.
4. the Zeit	time	Ich habe keine Zeit.	I don't have time.
5. die Frau	woman, wife, Mrs	Im Komitee waren nur vier Frauen.	There were only 4 women on the committee.
6. der Mensch	human being, man	Stamm der Mensch vom Affen ab?	Is human being descended from apes?
7. die Kind	child	Unser Kind geht schon in den Kindergarten.	Our child already goes to kindergarten.
8. der Tag	day	Sonntag ist der schönste Tag der Woche.	Sunday is the best day of the week.
9. der Mann	man	Sieht du den Mann dort?	Do you see that man there?
10. das Land	land, country, state	Dänemark ist ein kleines Land in Europa.	Denmark is a small country in Europe.
11. die Frage	question	Antworte mir bitte auf meine Frage.	Please answer my question.
12. der Mann	brother	Mein Bruder baut sich ein Haus.	My brother's building himself a house.
13. der Fall	fall, case	Ich habe in einem Fall noch nicht erlebt.	I've never seen a case like this before.
14. die Leute	people	Wahr Leute beobachten den Unfall, aber keiner half.	A lot of people were watching the accident, but nobody helped.
15. die Arbeit	work	Es wartet viel Arbeit auf uns.	A lot of work awaits us.
16. die Prozent	percent	Diese Prüfung zählt zehn Prozent der Gesamtnote.	This exam counts for ten percent of the overall grade.
17. die Hand	hand	Ich habe mir die linke Hand gebrochen.	I broke my left hand.
18. die Stadt	city, town	Köln ist eine Stadt in Deutschland.	Cologne is a city in Germany.
19. der Teil	part	Im ersten Teil des Buches werden die Charakter vorgestellt.	The characters are introduced in the first part of the book.
20. das Problem	problem	Wir werden das Problem lösen.	We will solve the problem.
21. die Welt	world	Eine Reise um die Welt ist teuer.	A trip around the world is expensive.
22. die Rechts	right, law	Recht ist ein Prinzip, Recht ist das Verhalten.	According to European law this is forbidden.

However, unlike in English, German articles change depending on the gender, number, and case of the noun they accompany. Here are some important rules to keep in mind when using articles in German: • Three Articles: In German, there are three articles: der for masculine nouns, die for feminine nouns, and das for neuter nouns. For example, der Mann (the man), die Frau (the woman), and das Kind (the child). • Noun Gender: It's important to learn the gender of nouns in German because it determines the article to be used. For example, der Tisch (the table) is masculine, die Tür (the door) is feminine, and das Buch (the book) is neuter. • Plural Nouns: Plural nouns in German take the article die regardless of gender. For example, die Autos (the cars), die Hunde (the dogs), and die Kinder (the children). • Cases: In German, articles change depending on the case of the noun.

The four cases in German are nominative, accusative, dative, and genitive. Each case has its own set of article forms, which can take some time to learn. • Exceptions: Some nouns in German do not follow the typical gender rules and may require a different article. For example, das Mädchen (the girl) is a neuter noun, even though it refers to a female person. • No Article: Some nouns in German don't require an article, such as proper nouns, abstract nouns, and some mass nouns. For example, Maria (Maria) or Deutschland (Germany). Learning the rules for using articles in German can be challenging, but it is essential for communicating effectively in the language. By paying attention to noun gender, case, and number, and by practicing with various exercises, learners can improve their mastery of German articles over time. Below are some guidelines for determining the correct articles. Categories of words related to the masculine gender: Males and professions der Großvater, der Lehrer, der Fahrer Weather der Regen, der Hagel Wind directions der Osten, der Westen Seasons der Herbst, der Winter Months der September, der Dezember Days of the week der Donnerstag, der Mittwoch Trains der IC, der Regionalexpress Car brands der Nissan, der Audi Alcoholic drinks der Cognac, der Wein Nouns, formed from verbs without ending der Gesang, der Fang, der Abbruch Endings can also help determine the masculine gender: -er der Rentner, der Rechner, der Computer -ling der Pfifferling, der Hähnling -or der Reaktor, der Akkumulator -ist der Journalist, der Aktivist -ismus der Aktionismus, der Rheumatismus Categories of words related to the feminine gender: Airplanes die Boeing, die Concorde Ship names die Titanic, die Europa Motorcycle brands die Harley-Davidson, die Honda Flowers die Rose, die Tulpe, die Hyazinthe Numbers die Fünf, die Zwölf, die Zehn Endings can indicate feminine gender: -e die Tasche, die Ente, die Lampe -ei die Wäscherei, die Bäckerei -ie die Psychologie, die Arterie -in die Prinzessin, die Ärztin -t die Fahrt, die Tat, die Nacht -schaft die Freundschaft, die Mannschaft -heit/-keit die Gelegenheit, die Schnelligkeit -ung die Zeitung, die Umleitung The endings of foreign words can also be useful for determining the feminine: -ion die Modulation, die Tradition -age die Drainage, die Passage -ur die Agentur, die Manufaktur -ik die Informatik, die Metrik -anz die Relevanz, die Ignoranz -tät die Naivität, die Fakultät -ade die Blockade, die Marmelade -enz die Präsenz, die Tendenz Categories of words related to the neuter gender: Substantivized adjectives das Schöne, das Gute Substantivized verbs das Schreiben, das Tippen Metals das Aluminium, das Messing Chemical elements das Helium, das Lithium Colors das Blau, das Rot, das Gelb Endings may indicate neuter: Diminutives: -chen das Hühnchen, das Lädchen Diminutives: -lein das Kindlein, das Büchlein -um das Publikum, das Zentrum -nis das Zeugnis, das Ergebnis -tum das Altertum, das Kaisertum -ment das Kompliment, das Parlament -o das Radio, das Kino, das Auto Nouns with the prefix Ge- are often neuter: Ge- das Gehörl, das Geflügel, das Gemüse (collective words) Ge- das Geräusch, das Gestöber, das Gebot, das Gerüst (abstract terms derived from verbs) When starting to learn German, it is always a good idea to memorize the most common words first. You will quickly begin to understand many more situations when compared to learning your German vocabulary from random sources. This page includes a list of most common German words along with their English translation. This list ranks the words according to the body of movie sub-titles. Note that some words represent different forms of the same word and thus can be grouped into a single entry with a higher combined rank. Some of these words include: der, des, dem, den -- the German definite article; masculine "the" form; der, den -- the German definite article; feminine "the" form; das, dem -- the German definite article; neuter "the" form; eine, einen, einer, einem, eines -- the German indefinite article; "a, an" du, dich, dir, deiner -- "du" (informal "you") and its inflections Most Used German Words 1-50 Rank German word English translation Part of speech 1. das the (definitive article; nominative/accusative singular neuter of "der"); this, that (demonstrative pronoun); who, that, which (relative pronoun) definite article; demonstrative pronoun; relative pronoun 2. ist (he/she/it) is (3rd-person singular present of "sein") verb 3. du you (informal; addressing one person) personal pronoun 4. ich I (not capitalized unless it is in the beginning of a sentence); ego (capitalized - Ich) personal pronoun; noun 5. nicht not adverb 6. die the (definitive article; nominative/accusative, singular feminine or plural form of der); that, which, who (relative pronoun); this es it (neuter gender) personal pronoun 6. und and conjunction 9. Sie you (polite or formal; addressing one person or a group of people) personal pronoun 10. der (the definite article; nominative singular masculine, genitive/dative singular feminine, genitive plural), who, that, which (relative pronoun, singular) definite article; relative pronoun 11. was what (interrogative); which (relative) interrogative pronoun, relative pronoun 12. wir we (nominative plural) personal pronoun 13. zu to, in, at, on, into, for (preposition); too; to, towards; closed, shut (adverb) preposition; adverb 14. ein a, an (indefinite article; masculine and neuter nominative; neuter accusative); one (number) indefinite article, cardinal number 15. er he, it (masculine) personal pronoun 16. in in, within, at, pertaining to (in + dative); into (in + accusative) preposition 17. sie she, it (feminine); they, you (plural) personal pronoun 18. mir me, to me (dative singular of "ich") personal pronoun 19. mit with preposition 20. ja yes; really, definitely; of course (adverb); a yes (capitalized as a noun - Ja) adverb, noun 21. wie how (adverb); like, as (conjunction); how (capitalized as a noun - Wie) adverb, conjunction, noun 22. den the (definitive article; accusative masculine singular; dative plural of "der"); this, that one (demonstrative pronoun, accusative masculine singular of "der"); who, that, which (relative pronoun) definite article; demonstrative pronoun; relative pronoun 23. auf on, onto, at preposition 24. mich me (accusative singular of "ich"); myself (reflexive pronoun) personal pronoun, reflexive pronoun 25. dass / daß that ("daß" is an obsolete spelling of "dass" used prior to the German spelling reform of 1996) conjunction 26. so so, that; as; if adverb, conjunction 27. hier here adverb 28. eine a, an (feminine nominative and accusative) indefinite article 29. wenn if, when; if, the ifs (capitalized as a noun - Wenn) conjunction, noun 30. hat to have (third-person singular present of "haben"; e.g. "er/sie/es hat") verb 31. all all, all the, every, everything, everybody, everyone indefinite pronoun, adjective 32. sind (we/they/you all) are (1st- and 3-rd person plural present of "sein") verb 33. von from, of (+ Dative) preposition 34. dich you (accusative of du); yourself (accusative) personal pronoun, reflexive pronoun 35. war (I/he/she/it) was (1st- and 3-rd person singular preterite of "sein") languagedaily.com verb 36. haben to have; possess; own; to have (auxiliary verb forms the perfect and past perfect tense) verb, auxiliary verb 37. für for (+ Accusative) preposition 38. an to, on, at, by, about, against preposition 39. habe to have (1st-person singular present/subjunctive; 3rd-person singular subjunctive I; imperative singular of "haben"; e.g. "ich habe") verb 40. da there, here, then, so (adverb); since, as, given that (conjunction) adverb, conjunction 41. nein no; a no (capitalized as a noun - nein) adverb, noun 42. bin (I) am (1st-person singular present of "sein") verb 43. noch still, yet (adverb); nor (conjunction) adverb, conjunction 44. dir you, to you (dative of "du"); yourself, to yourself (dative) personal pronoun, reflexive pronoun 45. uns us (accusative and dative of "wir"); ourselves (accusative and dative) personal pronoun, reflexive pronoun 46. sich oneself, itself, himself, herself, themselves (3-rd person singular and plural; accusative and dative) reflexive pronoun 47. nur only, merely, just; languagedaily dot com adverb 48. einen a, an (masculine accusative) indefinite article 49. kann (I) can, am able to (he/she/it) can (1st- and 3-rd person singular present of "können") verb 50. dem the (definitive article; dative singular masculine/neuter of "der"); to whom, to which (relative pronoun; dative singular masculine/neuter of "der") definite article; relative pronoun Index of most common German articles? You're definitely not alone. You've just set out to learn German, and, being the Überflieger (high-flyer) you are, you've bought yourself a shiny new German grammar book. You sit in front of it, tentatively thumbing the front cover. Self-congratulation quickly turns to apprehension. You know that as soon as you open that book you'll be thrust headfirst into the brain-busting world of German nouns and those mischievous little articles: der, die and das. Before we address the German articles, let's remind ourselves of what a noun is and how an English noun differs from a German one. Nouns are words which name things, places, ideas, processes or living creatures, and in German they're always written with a capital letter. As in English, German nouns are often preceded by the definite (the) or indefinite article (a/an) or another determiner (e.g. some/any), as well as an adjective or two. When you place these three things together, you create what we grammarians call a noun phrase. English Noun Phrase: the funny teacher German Noun Phrase: der lustige Lehrer German nouns can be masculine, feminine or neuter, and this gender affects the form of the articles (and the adjectives) we use. Let's look at the articles. Feminine: die Frau (the woman) Masculine: der Mann (the man) Neuter: das Kind (the child) German learners (and many native German speakers) often report that there's no rhyme or reason behind their uses, and that the gender of nouns simply has to be learned by heart. This is only partly true: there are plenty of noun endings which always collocate with certain articles. For example, any noun ending in -ung, -schaft, -keit or -heit will always be feminine, so it'll go with the article die. In fact, just that one little observation enables you to cover a huge range of nouns — Dankbarkeit (Gratitude), Wichtigkeit (Importance), Freundschaft (Friendship), Bedeutung (Meaning), Entscheidung (Decision) — You don't even need to know the meaning of the word to know that they're all feminine! Magic, eh! So let's take a look at a few more rules for der, die and das. Sit back, relax, peruse and absorb the tables below. When To Use Die Noun Ending Example - ung die Entscheidung (the decision) - tät die Universität (the university) - tion / - sion die Explosion (the explosion) - schaft die Gesellschaft (the society) - keit/- heit die Schönheit (the beauty) - ie die Geographie (the geography) - enz / - anz die Toleranz (the tolerance) - ei die Schlägerei (the fight) - ur die Natur (the nature) - in die Boxerin (the [female] boxer) The large majority of nouns which end in -e are feminine, so die Lampe (the lamp), die Rede (the speech), and die Bühne (the stage). When To Use Der Noun Ending Example - ant der Konsantant - ast der Gast (the guest) - ich der Teppich (the carpet) - ismus der Marxismus (the Marxism) - ling der Häftling (the prisoner) - us der Rhythmus (the rhythm) The majority of singular nouns ending in -er are masculine, so der Sommer (the summer), der Lehrer (the [male] teacher), der Angeber (the show-off), der Besitzer (the [male] owner), der Amerikaner (the [male] American) or der Bestatter (the [male] undertaker). When To Use Das Noun Ending Example - chen das Häuschen (the little house) - lein das Büchlein (the booklet/little book) - um das Wachstum (the growth) The large majority of nouns beginning with Ge- are neuter, so das Gesetz (the law), das Gespräch (the conversation) or das Gebäude (the building) — BUT die Geschichte (probably the most common of the anomalous Ge- nouns) bucks the trend by taking the feminine form. We recommend you pay particular attention to the feminine noun endings, as these crop up very frequently. You should also ensure you internalize the gender of every new noun you learn — don't just learn Lehrer, learn the word with its definite article: der Lehrer. This way you'll begin to naturally couple articles with nouns, and this will facilitate your use of the German cases (the next little grammatical hurdle in the German language). Recap Quiz Got all that? Let's make sure! Here's a short quiz on der, die and das to see how much you've retained. Don't worry if you do poorly, you can just scroll back up and keep studying. (function(d,s,id){var js,fjs=d.getElementsByTagName(s)[0];if(!d.getElementById(id)){return js=d.createElement(s);js.id=id;js.src="//www.googletagmanager.com/gtag/js?id=UA-108861316-1";fjs.parentNode.insertBefore(js,fjs);}})(document,'script','/exco-sdk/'); Learn to speak German like you've always wanted to.