STATE OF EMERGENCY

Australia catastrophic bush fire

In January, Australia has been gone through a catastrophic bush fire which impacted lot of families. Salute to the fire fighters who put their own life in danger for the sake of their homeland. They not only try to protect people's property but also sacrifice their own life, time and money. Australia which has been surrounded with inland & out of the land natural beauty includes lush green bed of trees & vast, deep, powerful blue ocean but on the other hand, the same nature becomes so catastrophic that it is hard to stop it whether its bush fire, floods or water restrictions. It happens off and on all around the Australia. Our support will always be with firefighters for their continuous effort & courage. We also feel sorry for those people who lost their animals and other properties. We are available to fire affected families who need our services.

Do you know the difference between Choking and Strangulation?

Choking is when food stuck in trachea (windpipe) and treatment of choking depends upon the level of food stuck in there.

Strangulation in today's world is deadliest form of violence. It happens only when some external body use force around someone's neck. The obstruction of oxygen by strangulation can cause death straight away and the only way to keep person alive is to remove the external object which can be hands of someone, rope, wire, piece of cloth or hanging with some other object.
