The Faces of a Dream

is a solo exhibition by artist Jerson Jiménez, born in the Dominican Republic and residing in Vienna for the past 32 years. The exhibition features a collection of 20 paintings in oil and acrylic on canvas, ranging in size from 150 x 120 cm to 40 x 40 cm. All of the works were created in Austria over the past 7 years.

The artist's main focus is on expressing feelings in his works, as he believes that it is through them that we can connect with our own inner reality. Each painting is a sign on a path that guides the observer through their own feelings, in a world of color, form, and expression that reflects their own emotions.

In most of his works, the artist seeks to express an idea, dream, or illusion that is understood by all of us, as they are part of the inner reality of every individual. Jerson Jimenez uses his imagination to create portraits of people who do not exist, but still remind us of someone real. Each of his works reflects an inner reality, emotions, and feelings that we can all identify with -regardless of our personal experiences. The result is portraits that challenge the viewer's perception and invite them to explore their own imagination and fantasy.
