Message from Bishop Kosen Ishikawa

Dear Members and Friends,

Last month, scholars from the Hawaiian Buddhist Cultural Properties Study Project visited our temple to investigate, record, and archive our cultural properties. This was their third official visit, and they also toured temples on Maui and the Big Island in preparation for expanding their research.

One of their goals is to help organize the inventory of our numerous cultural properties, including Buddha statues, scrolls, old photographs, and documents. They also aim to share preservation techniques with us. An exhibition will raise awareness among temple members about our treasures, and moving our collections from storage to display will improve their condition.

During their last visit, they recorded scrolls, and this time they focused on the altar objects and items in the Hondo. While no major discoveries were made, it was fascinating to learn that many altar items were renewed when our temple relocated to its current location in 1932.

The project leader, Professor Naofumi Annaka, expressed interest in two documents referenced in Dr. Takaaki Uoo's thesis. The first, titled "Jodo Shu Kaikyoin Record," consists of diaries, meeting minutes, and news articles spanning from March 1923 to May 1938. The second, "Kaikyoku Record," includes communication records between Hawaii Jodo Shu and the Jodo Shu Headquarters, comprising three books.

BOLLETIN - OCTOBER 2024 JODO MISSION OF HAWAII

Having read Dr. Uoo's thesis, I knew these documents must be in our library or storage. I've searched for them periodically but couldn't find them. So, when Professor Annaka inquired about their location, I had to apologize. The last confirmed sighting of these documents was in 2018 when Dr. Uoo researched them. I decided to contact him for assistance.

Fortunately, Dr. Uoo recalled clearly that the documents were not in the library but in the basement storage room. I escorted Professor Annaka to the storage room, and as soon as we entered, he pointed to a shelf and exclaimed, "I think this is it!" To my surprise, he was right—the records we had been seeking were there! They didn't look like traditional books; rather, they resembled a photo album. However, Professor Annaka's familiarity with the diaries from that time enabled him to recognize them immediately.

This experience reminded me of my search for the gravestone of the first Japanese immigrant, known as the "Gannenmono," on Kauai.

In 2018, during the 150th anniversary celebration of the Gannenmono, Uncle Dick from Anahola, Kauai, informed me that the first Japanese immigrant was buried in a graveyard in Anahola. He shared that a member of the Japanese royal family had once visited the site to pay their respects. I was unaware of this gravestone and wanted to locate it to offer my prayers.

Uncle Dick kindly offered to take me to the site during my next visit for a service. However, I was too eager and stopped by the graveyard on my own during a trip to the North. The graveyard wasn't large, featuring both Japanese-style and Western gravestones. I searched three times but couldn't find it until Uncle Dick guided me during our service.

Because I had struggled to find the stone myself, I was particularly curious about where I had missed it. When Uncle Dick arrived at the graveyard, I watched him head in an unexpected direction—completely opposite from the Japanese gravestones—toward an area designated for Christians. He stopped at a stone marked with a Holy Cross.

I recognized this stone; I had passed it before, assuming it was for a Christian. Uncle Dick said, "Sensei, this is the stone. When I first visited, it was laid down, but it looks like someone has fixed it now."

The inscription read: "Beloved Grandfather Arai Bungo - 1844 - Sept. 19, 1925 - The First Japanese Immigrant to Hawaii Arrived 1868." I was overjoyed to finally find this gravestone. Despite having examined all the stones multiple times, I had overlooked it because I had preconceptions about the first Japanese immigrant being Buddhist, which clouded my perception.

No one had told me that the first Japanese immigrants were Buddhists; this bias was my own. I had assumed they would have a traditional Japanese gravestone, leading me to ignore the truth.

This experience underscored for me the importance of an open mind in seeking the truth. We often believe we see the truth, but it can remain hidden behind our biases and preconceived notions. Knowledge can be a double-edged sword; while it can guide us, it can also obstruct our understanding if we rely on it too heavily. To seek the truth, we must set aside our prejudices and remain open, for the truth transcends judgment.

As you know, we will soon celebrate two significant anniversaries: the 850th anniversary of the founding of Jodo Shu and the 130th anniversary of the first Jodo Shu ministers' arrival in Hawaii. In commemoration of these celebrations, Bishop Kokyo Kawanaka will give us an affirmation ceremony to bless us as an official member of Jodo Shu. If you haven't yet RSVP'd for the celebration on Sunday, October 20, please reconsider participating in this special occasion and let us know as soon as possible.

Let us honor the past, celebrate the present, and embrace the future with hope and gratitude.

Gassho,

Bishop Kosen Ishikawa

What is Affirmation Ceremony on October 20?

It has been 850 years since Honen Shonin (1133—1212) founded Jodo Shu. After encountering the verse, "All will be saved by calling Amida Buddha's sacred name, Namu Amida Butsu," in the Commentary on the Visualization Sutra by the Chinese Pure Land Master Shandao, Honen Shonin realized that Nenbutsu was the ultimate way for universal salvation. Thus, Honen Shonin began teaching the Nenbutsu at Yoshimizu in Kyoto, where the grand head temple, Chion-in stands today. This precious teaching has been passed for nearly 850 years from generation to generation, and even now and into the future, we can continue to walk on the path of Nenbutsu, which leads us all to the Pure Land.

In celebration of our anniversary, we are pleased to announce two special services conducted by Bishop Kokyo Kawanaka. The first is a commemorative service, and the second is the "Affirmation Ceremony," known as "Kikyo-shiki" in Japanese. This initiation ceremony invites our members to take refuge in the Three Treasures: Buddha, Dharma, and Sangha, expressing their reverence.

In accordance with Jodo Shu beliefs, this ritual involves a formal declaration of taking refuge in the Three Treasures. Key components of the ceremony include a blessing by the officiant and the repetition of the Nenbutsu and a verse of reverence three times.

On the other hand, the commemorative service is to express our sincerest appreciation to our founder Honen Shonin and to offer prayer for the past ministers and members of Hawaii Jodo Shu since 1894.

The affirmation service will begin at 10 AM, followed by the commemorative service at 11 AM. We encourage you not to miss these special occasions and kindly request that you send your RSVP at your earliest convenience.

Thank You Everyone for Your Help at Our Bazaar on Sunday, September 22, 2024

There were so many items for sale from the many items our members and supporters brought to the temple throughout the year. Thank you very much.

Sorting and pricing all the many items was a tremendous job and thank you everyone who came to help.

Thank you to the Kiwani Key Clubs whohelped bring out our stored items and also helped with clean up.

Did you notice we used two rooms for the Bazaar? Social Hall and Ikoi Hall which had a lot of Japanese treasures, some furniture, a collection of Japanese dolls, elephants of all types, etc. Thank you very much to the Sogetsu ladies who came almost every day the week before the Bazaar to clean, do research and display items so they could be sold at a fair price.

Thank you to those who brought homemade baked goods, plants for sale and other items. The ladies of the Sewing Circle displayed their treasurers as well as other craft things that came in. Kauai Kookies still are available in temple office.

Keiro Sunday and Grandparents Day—Sept. 8th

Keiro Members:: Masa Kitajima (91); Akiko Nishiyama (95), New Member David Tamashiro (82), New Member Katie Tamashiro (81), Shizue Tatsuta (92), Tsukiko Sakai (92)

Group Photo of everyone present on September 8th, including Sundaystudent Wyatt Fujikawa, who passed out all the goodies to Keiro members. On Sunday, September 8th, we celebrated Keiro Sunday & Grandparents Day. The Intermediate YBA passed out treats and ice cream at lunch. They also presented the oldest male and female Keiro with leis—Masa Kitajima (91) and Akiko Nishiyama (95). It was also Autumn Higan day so the Fujinkai ladies made two types of ohagi and fried saimin with a vegetable salad for lunch.
