

Course Description

WorkSafeBC has specified training for Joint Committee members as follows; “All joint committee members selected on or after April 3, 2017 must receive eight hours of training and instruction on the following topics.” (see table below).

Our training meets the content requirements from WorkSafeBC, yet does NOT meet the 8-hour requirement. We’ve found through experience that these topics can be diligently covered in 6 hours. If your organizations wants to ensure a full 8 hours of training is provided, then WorkSafeBC has designed a 2-hour online course (free) that can be used to supplement our training.

Duration	6 hours
Cost¹	$1,500 (Weekday Delivery) $1,750 (Saturday Delivery)

Topics

- Duties and functions of a joint committee
- Rules of procedure of the joint committee
- Requirements around conducting incident investigations
- Requirements around conducting regular workplace inspections, and how to make regular inspections
- Requirements around responding to a refusal of unsafe work
- Requirements for annually evaluating the joint committee

Participant Engagement

Many safety courses are dry, not-relevant and boring. Really boring.

Our courses are NOT boring. While it won’t be like going to Disneyland, participants will find themselves being engaged throughout the day, and they WILL actually learn something.

Technology

We integrate technology into our training sessions, and participants will be expected to have a smart device. We have a few extra devices available for people without, so it’s not mandatory.

¹ Venue rental is additional, if required.
