

We regret that during rehearsals a number of cast and crew have been hit by COVID and other illness. In spite of our best efforts (including rehearsing online), it has proved impossible to have the show ready for the 25th March. We are very sorry for any inconvenience this may have caused you. Owing to theatres having been closed for three months, our venue, the CC Amstel theater, has a very full schedule and no space until later in 2022. This availability is during the pre-production period for our 20th anniversary show, the musical CABARET. For this reason we have taken the difficult decision to move Endless Second to the same dates in March 2023 - please see table below.

Your tickets have automatically been re-scheduled and remain valid for the same day of the week and time, as per the schedule below (except for the Sunday evening show).

We are grateful for your tremendous loyalty to QETC. We hope that we can count on your continued support, by accepting the new dates, even if they seem quite far away! The table above shows the date you booked for originally and the new date that you have been allocated.

If you need additional information you can email us at customerservice@Qetc.nl - please do not contact the CC Amstel Theater as QETC manages all bookings. Please use only this email address as we regret we are unable to answer queries via other email addresses or social media.

These are difficult times for theatre and we have already incurred costs that cannot be recouped. We would like therefore to ask for your continued support and understanding. If you can, please donate by making a bank transfer to :-
